

Best of all, the method is general and applicable to all types of data.