

The first two steps are mathematically identical.